RGIT IEEE Student Chapter

IEEE was founded in 1884 with Alexander Graham Bell and Thomas Edison among its charter members. Today, IEEE serves over 400,000 members worldwide. Over 100,000 Student and Graduate Student members worldwide make up 25% of the membership of IEEE and are essential to its continued growth and vitality. Not only is IEEE the world's largest technical and professional society, it also publishes a significant amount of the electrical engineering and computer-science literature in the world.

IEEE worldwide membership is geographically divided into ten Regions. These Regions are further divided into Sections that serve as the centers of activity for professional engineers at the local level. Your Student Branch falls under your local Section. You can locate your Section by visiting my IEEE and selecting Communities.

➤ The RGIT IEEE Student Chapter shall have the following broad objectives :

- To arrange for regular events in the campus specifically dealing with latest technologies
- To work towards inspiring more students to become members
- To increase the Membership Retention, though the benefits of IEEE
- To organize technical awareness programs for young professionals
- To form more Special Interest Groups to encourage project activity among the student members
- To kindle students interest in making new papers and projects
- To strive towards achieving more IEEE-sponsored awards and aim at representing papers in international conferences
